

Pujya Swamiji's Camp at Amboli from March 9 to 13, 2009

Pujya Sri Swami Dayananda Saraswati arrived in Amboli on the 9th of March, 09 after a hectic schedule in Karnataka, just in time to conduct a session on guided meditation for the campers.

Pujya Swamiji explained the meaning of comfort and said the nature of 'T' was wholeness and one could play the various roles his scripts enjoined and realize in and through all experiences that he was the Whole and the comfort that he sought.

In the subsequent sessions, Pujya Swamiji delved deep into the Mahavakya and explained the essential meaning of it in detail.

The climate was moderate for compact 30 member group and they enjoyed the mornings and evenings with the beautiful sunrise and moon rise in the range of mountains surrounding the ashram!

We hope to complete the pending projects of building structures for a generator room, a Laundromat room and an extension for the existing dining facility as desired by Pujya Swamiji.

Seeing the enthusiastic support offered by the campers, we also appeal to the devotees of Pujya Swamiji to help us complete the projects before Pujya Swamiji's next visit.
