Rajan Zed Opens US House of Representatives Session with Hindu Prayer

Source

WASHINGTON, DC, June 21, 2014 (indiablooms.com): Rajan Zed, first Hindu to offer the opening prayer in the US Senate, delivered the third opening Hindu prayer in the House of Representatives on June 19.

Starting and concluding with "Om," Zed read the Gayatri Mantra followed by excerpts from the Upanishads and the Bhagavad Gita—all in English. He sprinkled a few drops of Ganga water on the House podium. He presented a copy of Bhagavad-Gita to Congressman Michael Honda, who introduced and thanked Zed. He was presented with certificate of appreciation by House Speaker John Boehner, and spoke with Honda, Congresswoman Donna F. Edwards from Maryland, Congresswoman Janice Hahn from California and House Chaplain Fr. Patrick J. Conroy.

The first Hindu leader to give the opening prayer in Congress was Venkatachalapathi Samuldrala, priest of the Shiva Hindu Temple in Parma, Ohio, in 2000, on the day that the Prime Minister of India, Atal Bihari Vajpayee, addressed a joint session of Congress. The second for the House was Satguru Bodhinatha Veylanswami of Kauai Aadheenam in 2013 at the invitation of Representative Ed Royce of California and Rep. Tulsi Gabbar of Hawaii (the first Hindu representative in Congress).

Zed was famously heckled as he began his prayer in the Senate in 2007, an astonishing and shocking breach of protocol in that dignified chamber. The Christian protestors were arrested.

Consecrating a Temple: Hindu Community Dedicates First Area House of Worship in Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, FLORIDA, June 14, 2014 (Daytona Beach News-Journal): Wearing saris and carrying offerings of flowers and coconuts, women and girls processed from North Beach Street to the Hindu Cultural Association building on Madison Avenue east of Mulberry Street in Daytona Beach. The procession on June 7 marked the beginning of a weeklong series of observances and rituals that would consecrate the Hindu Cultural Association building into a religious temple or “mandir,” the first Hindu temple for Volusia County, members said.

The Hindu Cultural Association purchased the 1.2-acre site at 150 Madison Ave. in 2006, according to the Volusia County Property Appraiser. After a fundraising campaign, the 6,110-square-foot building was completed last year with a value of $377,093. It opened in late 2013 for cultural events and meetings but the building would not gain its religious status until this week, members said.

On Monday, in a nine-hour ceremony from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., statues were imbued with religious significance as believers “put the soul to the statues,” believing them to be living representations of Deities.

Akshardham Temple Coming up in New Jersey

AHMEDABAD, INDIA, July 22, 2014 (by Bharat Yagnik, TNN): The Bochasanvasi Akshar Purushottam Sansthan (BAPS) has envisioned an Akshardham temple at Robbinsville in New Jersey, US that will be spread over a mammoth 162 acres. BAPS has earlier established two Akshardham temples at Gandhinagar and New Delhi as religious and cultural centers. The US project — aptly named Akshardham Mahamandir — started in 2013 with a stone-laying ceremony, realizing the 15-year-old dream of Pramukh Swami, the religious leader of the sect, to construct an Akshardham at New Jersey. The area has sizable Gujarati and Indian population. The leaders are hopeful that the temple will be ready in 2017. Pramukh Swami will visit the site next month when he will be in the US.

Sadhu Brahmprakash of BAPS told TOI that the work is going on at Rajasthan where more than 2,000 artisans are laboring over various parts of the temple at Dungarpur, Pindwada and Sangwada. “The finished parts are shipped to US where they are assembled by master craftsmen,” he said. Italian marble and marble from Rajasthan’s quarries is being used and the parts are shipped from Mundra, added officials. In US, a 5,000-strong team is looking after various aspects of the construction and design.

The main building will have four floors. The complex will have an exhibit dedicated to Indian history and culture, a youth activity center and much more. The artisans have taken elements of both south and north Indian temples. The embellished temple will have ornate pillars and panels depicting scenes from the Ramayana and Mahabharata and ancient scriptures. The halls will have full-size idols of important leaders of the sect.

CBSE also directed schools to organize Yuva Sansad or Youth Parliaments, seminars for teachers on “practical applications of Sanskrit,” screen Sanskrit films and organise interactions for children with eminent Sanskrit scholars ‘Duty is that which must be done whether or not it is in agreement with my likes and dislikes. If the like and duty coincide, the action becomes spontaneous. If the like does not coincide with the duty, the action becomes deliberate – this is karma yoga with respect to action. If I do what I fancy, regardless of whether it is proper or not, it is an impulsive action. An impulsive person is in the hands of likes and dislikes and therefore full of conflicts. A deliberate person, who does what should be done, releases the mind from likes and dislikes in course of time. The sense of duty grows upon the person such that the duties are performed as naturally as breathing and eating. The mind of such a person is a fit instrument to appreciate the teaching of Vedanta.
